PRESS RELEASE

1st DUCE International Conference on Gender Issues in Higher Learning Institutions

The Principal, on behalf of the organizing committee, invites DUCE community and the general public to the above mentioned conference. The Conference will be held from 27th to 28th April 2017, within DUCE premises, (New Lecture Theatre C and The Teachers Profession Center building).

The Guest of honour during the opening ceremony will be the Vice President of the United Republic of Tanzania H.E. Mama Samia Suluhu Hassan, accompanied by UDSM Vice Chancellor, Prof. Rwekaza Mukandala and other government dignitaries.

The Conference participants will be scholars from DUCE, other local and International universities, postgraduate students working on gender themes, policy makers and leaders of human rights agencies, civil societies and internationally renowned gender scholars and activists.

The overall objective of the Conference is to explore and reflect on gender issues and on how best to redress them in the context of higher learning institutions in Africa with the aim of realizing the human rights and gender equality as speculated in various national and international instruments.

You are ALL invited to be part of this historical event.

“Gender equity and equality for all”
